How do you transfer this to a space?

In this catalogue we answer these questions and give you advice so you can create the perfect atmosphere for your home.

Styles are a simple way to explain abstract concepts that are difficult to interpret. Therefore, we have classified our new collection of designs by styles that are in fashion.

*Find inspiration
in new trends*

You can create a simple and functional atmosphere with a Scandinavian style or create a sophisticated and cosmopolitan aura with a glam style. If you prefer spaces with a very distinctive character, go for the free spirited and exotic nature of the eclectic style. You can choose the brightness and freshness of the nature style or the renovated and timeless tradition of classic dark. And if you can't decide between Japanese minimalism and Scandinavian functionality, there is a style that combines them: Japandi.

Keep in mind that styles are becoming less defined because the main trend is the personalization of spaces. Your home doesn't have to look like a magazine cover: your home should only reflect you, your tastes and your personality.

Creating your space

This is Finsa

Finsa: a brief history.

We already had a track record of more than 30 years when the first manned spacecraft in history was launched in 1961.

We began in 1931 as a sawmill in Portanxil (A Coruña, Spain) that would later be transformed into the project known as Finsa (Financiera Maderera S.A.). Our company currently works in more than 80 countries. We are also the benchmark for the manufacture of wood-based products in the Iberian peninsula. Our production capacity, wide range and market share enable us to provide you with a product that combines reliability and design.

We have been manufacturing laminate flooring for over 20 years. We are working in our Lugo (Spain) factory on a daily basis to make FINFloor a benchmark for quality material in all our projects, which is why we have become one of the most prestigious brands in the sector.

ARE YOU THINKING OF WOOD FOR YOUR NEW FLOOR?

We are faced with many options during the process of looking for the right floor for our home: solid parquet, three-ply, floating flooring, laminate floor, synthetic parquet, with glued or floating installation...

It's normal for you to be in a muddle and unsure of the differences between so many possibilities, you may even confuse the terms. We're going to try to shed some light on this and, to do so, we'll start by distinguishing between natural wood parquet and laminate floor.

SOLID WOOD OR NATURAL WOOD PARQUET

Parquet is a variety of floor in which the top layer is made of fine hardwood with a minimum thickness of 2.5 mm. The most common species used for this type of floor are pine, ash, beech, cherry, iroko, jatoba, oak or walnut.

SOLID PARQUET

Composed of solid wood boards of different size and thickness between 15 and 30 mm. It is tongue-and-grooved all round.

SLAT PARQUET

Composed of small, usually rectangular solid-wood slats between 8 and 14 mm thick. The dimensions and laying pattern of the planks enables the formation of a variety of geometric figures. Mosaic parquet, lamparquet and industrial parquet are among the most popular. It is installed by glueing to the sub-floor.

MULTI-LAYER OR "ENGINEERED" WOOD FLOORS

Made up of various bonded layers of wood. The resulting board is usually around 14-15 mm thick.

- 1 Top layer: made of fine wood between 2.5 and 6 mm thick and finished with various coats of varnish.
- 2 Core layer: made of less expensive woods such as pine or fir, with the grain placed at right-angles to ensure the stability of the whole.
- 3 Bottom layer: this layer is in direct contact with the sub-floor and is usually pine.

TYPES OF INSTALLATION

GLUED PARQUET:

each plank is glued to the others and to the sub-floor.

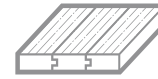

BATTEN-MOUNTED PARQUET:

the planks are usually solid wood and are nailed onto wooden battens laid on a properly-levelled sub-floor.

FLOATING PARQUET:

a floating floor does not need to be nailed or glued to the sub-floor.

DID YOU KNOW...?

A solid wood floor can be planed and sanded more times than a floor of "engineered" wood floor. This is because only the top layer of the latter can be planed or sanded.

WHAT IS FLOATING FLOORING?

Floating wooden flooring refers to parquet that does not need to be fixed to the sub-floor. Although it should only refer to wooden floors, the term has been widely extended and is now often used to refer to laminate floors placed in this manner.

LAMINATE FLOORS

Laminate floors, also called floating flooring, are formed by various bonded layers. The top layer is usually textured to imitate the aesthetic effect of real wood.

TOP LAYER (OR OVERLAY)

A thin, transparent layer resistant to wear, exposure to sunlight, water, impacts, blows, scratching and burns.

DECORATIVE LAYER

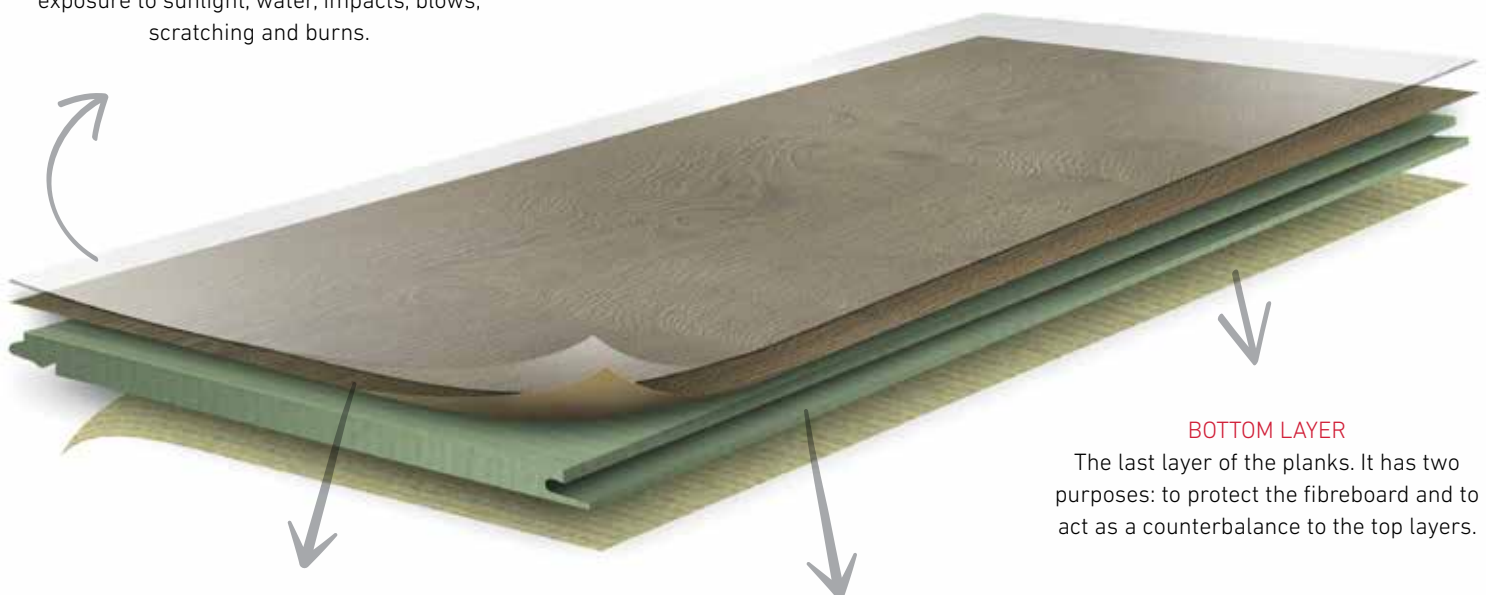

A printed layer that faithfully reproduces many kind of material (wood, stone, textile, fantasies, etc.) and colours with ultra-violet resistant dyes.

HIGH-DENSITY FIBREBOARD

Durable, stable and moisture-resistant.

BOTTOM LAYER

The last layer of the planks. It has two purposes: to protect the fibreboard and to act as a counterbalance to the top layers.

WHY CHOOSE A LAMINATE FLOOR?

Laminate floors offer many advantages over other floors due to their installation system, easy maintenance, value for money, wide range of designs and textures, etc. Check it out:

HOW CAN I INSTALL LAMINATE FLOORING? WITH A SINGLE CLICK!

The laminate floor planks are joined with a single click. They are provided with an ingenious tongue-and-groove system that fits together like a jigsaw. This system does not require glue and is called click system. Laminate flooring can also be installed on virtually any material (cement, vinyl, wood, tile, ceramic, stone, etc.) without fastening it to the sub-floor.

A prior underlay must be laid to protect the floor from moisture and enhance the insulation before installing the top laminate. This underlay also dampens noise and corrects any minor irregularities in the sub-floor's levelling.

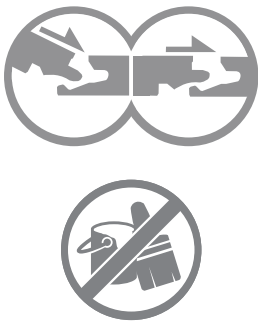

ADVANTAGES

RESISTANCE

A laminate floor is extremely strong and durable because:

- It will not break or deform on impact by heavy falling objects, the weight of the furniture or walking in high heels.
- Does not discolour on exposure to ultra-violet light.
- It is stain-resistant.

INSTALLATION

Installation is fast, floating and dry.

- It is floating because it is not fastened or anchored at any point and can be installed directly over existing flooring (except textiles such as felt or carpet). It is only necessary to ensure a minimum degree of levelness.
- One of the big advantages is that there is no waiting time: the floor can be used immediately after installation because no glue, varnishes or cement are used.
- Assembly and dismantling are fast. The tongue and groove system joins the planks with a single click.

CLEANING AND MAINTENANCE

Our laminate flooring is easy to maintain and clean:

- You only need to use a dust mop or vacuum for day-to-day cleaning. And to keep it perfect, clean with a well-wrung mop. You will not need to wax or polish at all.
- Since stains do not stick to this kind of flooring, the most common (footmarks, juices, wine, grease...) can be cleaned up by wiping with a damp cloth. More resistant stains (paint, dyes...) can be cleaned with acetate or vinegar essence.

COMFORT

It is cosy and pleasant to walk on because it is a wooden floor. Laminate floors are also compatible with underfloor heating.

SUSTAINABILITY

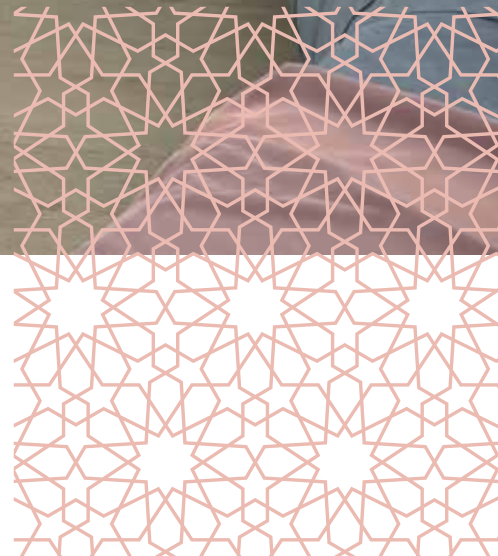

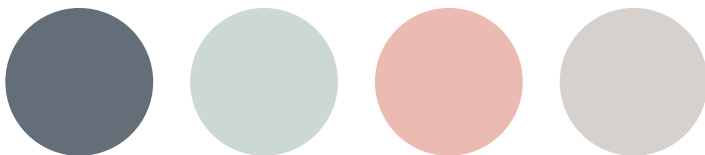

Since wood is the main raw material, laminate floors are sustainable, renewable and recyclable. Our timber comes from PEFC and FSC-certified forests - certifications that ensure sustainable forest management.
